FROM THE DESK

According to the world economic forum, 133 million job roles will be emerging by 2022, and close to 75 million job roles will decline. In this fast-growing world of technology, disruptive innovation, and robotization, teaching is a career that has sustained the test of time and has been one of the oldest known professions whether it is delivered formally or informally. It's the only profession that prepares individuals for all other professions. With the evolution of online learning, any teacher in the world is now accessible with a click of a button. Teachers not only play an important role in a student's life but also play vital roles in nation-building, every country is as progressive as its rate of literacy.

I am sure, we would all have a fond memory of a teacher or mentor from our past or present experience whom we have always looked up to and are grateful for their contribution to building our personality and ability to look forward in life. The fact that we all have one or more teachers to be thankful for, shows how important the teaching profession is. The proudest moment for any teacher is when their student's aspiration turns into reality and the students acknowledge the contribution of their teacher. A good teacher inspires students beyond the classroom. A teacher is like a candle that consumes itself to light the ways for others.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all our teachers, professors, and faculty members for their contribution to supporting our students in their learning journey, we are proud of your dedication, commitment, and selfless attitude in addressing the needs of every student who has crossed your path. Technologies are meant to bring the students together and motivate them but a teacher will always be most important.

On this International Teacher's day, let us all take a pledge to reach out and share our acknowledgement to the teachers who have made a difference in our lives and let them know we are grateful for their contribution.

TEACHERS DESERVE TO BE CELEBRATED

World Teacher's Day, also known as International Teacher's Day, is an International Day held annually on 5th October – a global event launched by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in 1994. World Teacher's Day aims to focus on "appreciating, assessing and improving the educators of the world" and to provide an opportunity to consider issues related to teachers and teaching.

Teaching is the most influential job in the world. Teachers are known to shape the mind of youth and without knowledge no one can exist in this world. Teachers impart good values in children and turn them into responsible citizens. So, almost every country celebrates Teacher's Day. The influence a teacher makes on an individual extends beyond the classroom. Teachers put in tremendous effort to understand their students and cater to them wholeheartedly. They take much care in molding the character of their students, thereby helping them grow into a compassionate and socially responsible individuals. Teacher's day is an occasion for us to remember our dear teachers and be grateful to them for the role they play in our lives. They dedicate their lives to make an impact on the way children learn and grow and turn into adults. To Observe World Teacher's Day, the best thing you can do is thank a teacher who made a positive impact on your life.

"Let us remember: One book, one pen, one child, and one teacher can change the world."

A teacher teaches us the importance of a pen over that of a sword. They are much esteemed in society as they elevate the living standards of people. They are like the building blocks of society who educate people and make them better human beings. Moreover, teachers have a great impact on society and their student's lives.

"Teachers, I believe, are the most responsible and important members of society because their professional efforts affect the fate of the nation."

Teacher's Day in India

Teacher's Day in India is celebrated annually on the 5th September. This day was first introduced when the students celebrated academician, Vice president and later the president of India Dr. Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan on his birthday in 1962. This day was later borrowed by UNESCO to commemorate the adoption of the 1966 law concerning the status of teachers, which shows and addresses the situation of teachers all around the world. The 2022 theme for Teacher's day is 'Teachers at the heart of education recovery'. This theme was chosen to show their determined and diligent efforts to the crucial stages of the global pandemic.

International Teacher's day

My Teachers created the stories of distant land, who made me familiar with fate. Who made the front pages of my life interesting with kindness, who enlightened my whole world with knowledge and who are the roots of the tree of my life. The teachers introduced us to the world with happy smiles and tears. They taught us the difference between right and wrong, good and bad. They put up with our little flaws and were always with us like our second parents. Our teachers are next to God, because they always bless us. Teachers work hard to teach us. Teachers do not keep any learning aside and teach us everything they know.

Dear all loving teachers, I would like to take this platform to thank you all. Thank you so much for helping me in completing my education.

Happy Teacher's day!

ENLIGHTENED HUMAN BEINGS CAN BE CREATED BY TEACHERS

Teachers plant the seed of knowledge that will grow forever.

A teacher can be described as an educator who helps students to acquire knowledge, competence or virtue, but most importantly, they are the pillars of the nation building process, because they influence the next generation to become morally responsible and productive members of society. Their wisdom, dedication and kindness will lead us on to the right path and inspire us to be better people.

Dear Teachers, I wish you a Happy Teacher's Day and I am forever grateful for your patience to help us reach our potential. Your inspiration to help us discover our passions, and your guidance in our studies is appreciated forever.

"Better than 1000 days of diligent study is one day with a great teacher."

Teacher's day is an annual celebration in the entire world. It is observed on 5th September every year in India. This is a day to honour our respected teachers. Not only that but it is also a day to celebrate the most promising bond between the teachers and the students. Teachers are very diligent and are not biased towards their students. They also have to face many challenges throughout their journey in daily life. The hard work and sacrifices of each teacher for our mental growth is incredible. A teacher plays the most vital role in every individual's life that shapes their future and develops their mind to differentiate between right and wrong. They also teach us to improve our own skills, personality and confidence. Teachers are like the candle that burns itself to provide bright light to the students.

A Teacher-Student relationship has existed for centuries. In my country India we call it Guru-Shishya. A teacher is a gift from God who constantly teaches students the difference between right and wrong in a non-discriminatory manner without any selfishness. The teacher is the second most important person in shaping a child's shape must be child's future.

The true potters in student's or a child's life are their teachers. Teacher not only moulds the student's life but also gives them the capacity to not only remain illuminated even when the rest of the world is in darkness but also to illuminate others.

We are unable to repay any of the professors for their invaluable contributions, but we can certainly show them our appreciation and respect. Because of this, we ought to swear from the bottom of our hearts that we would always respect educators.

It is tough to describe a teacher since they are not only responsible for academic instruction or guidance, but also for assisting pupils in choosing the appropriate route. They strengthen our character and transform us into the best possible citizens.

International Teacher's day is the day during which we appreciate and thank teachers around the world. It is also the occasion to remind all of us how important education is and how teachers contribute to the development of the world, how they help shaping our society.

Teachers are the guiding lights to students and play a major role in who they are and who they will become. They help us grow, challenge our ideas and most importantly they never give up on their students no matter what.

They truly are a source of inspiration for all of us.

Thank you dear teachers and Happy International Teacher's Day!

One comes to life through their mother's womb, moulded by their father into an individual, empowered by a teacher with knowledge and grooming into a social animal.

A teacher is the one who is selfless towards grooming and imparting knowledge and values to kids even though there is no direct blood relation. A teacher believes in being a mirror to an individual showing him/her where exactly and how do they appear in the society amongst their peers, it is at this aspect where an individual could be formulated into a better human or otherwise.

Even though, the prima facie of any teacher is to teach students, they are unknowingly themselves a referral for every student to either be or not be like their teacher. Non-partiality, non-favoring behavior, equality by all means of gender, affluence, color, religion, etc are the values the teacher becomes a role model for. Here the students observe as to how and why the teacher behaves in a certain way, if they feel they need to ask questions, the teacher should be outsource of clarity from student's confusion or queries.

A teacher is more like an atlas to find and locate every students interest and strengths to excel in their respective lives.

A Teacher is a person who is majorly responsible for how a society progresses.

A Teacher is a torch which brightens the future of a student.

A Teacher is a one very important aspect in the foundation of a society.

A Teacher and a Scientist are the only two people I personally feel are actually responsible for how mankind progresses because they are the only ones who are the providers of knowledge, wisdom, technology, success & more.

Teachers : The shapers of society

A teacher, a mentor, a guide! There are many roles that a teacher plays while shaping the future of the nation by guiding its youth towards the right path. I have observed one thing throughout my student life, as a student I always needed the validation and appreciation from my teachers for every achievement, it was because I was always sure that my teacher will know the right thing for me! This belief of a student on the teacher signifies how a teacher can shape a student's life with the right guidance. I consider teaching as a responsible and noble profession because it is not limited to the syllabus and the books, it is related to the whole life of a student, once a teacher decides to bring a student on track, that is when the task of shaping a future student gets in! A teacher can make students understand what should be the priority of a student at present. That is what my teacher did with me! She made me realise that the life ahead is much more demanding and important than the petty things I was putting my energy into! Some day I hope that I will do the same to my students.

A LOFTY Profession

"The best teachers are those who show you where to look, but don't tell you what to see." - Alexander K. Trenfor.

If I want to start with defining teaching, I would say that it is conceptual and intellectual, abstract and concrete, creative and sequential. The world is full of variety of million careers and professions, and indeed, all of them are important in some way. Actually, all the careers are connected as a chain, if one of them is missing, it will leave a great impact on the others and consequently on the society. However, I personally used to dislike some of my teachers from school days, since I was a very serious student but I lost interest in math, due to the rude treating of my old teacher who was always trying to discourage the weak ones and distinguish the good ones. Since then, I had this bad feeling toward bad teachers, even though I deeply and cordially appreciate all my faculties because they were perfect and it's only because of their help and dedications I am who I am today. Who am I? I would tell you with a great pleasure that I am a very dedicated and passionate teacher who teaches her students not to earn her living, but basically to teach them how to think appropriately, I also teach them how to appreciate their skills and power that they have but ignore it, so, actually I not only lead them to the right path but also, I discover their deep capacity and potential. In general, most people think that the teacher is here to help students who are in need to know, so they can depend on him anytime and always. However, according to my own concept, the successful teacher is who helps the learner for a certain period in order to lead him to the right path, not for his entire life, only until that learner will be able to walk alone his own way and can stand steady in this tough life. This is my own concept of a great teacher, and not to teach in a way to always let the learner feel in need for his help. Thomas Carruthers has said once: "A teacher is one who makes himself progressively unnecessary." How proud I feel whenever I see my students succeeding in their life after a hard challenge with learning and getting education. When I see them reaching their goals, I feel as if I got a priceless reward from life and God, because I was able to lead these honorable learners to the highest expectations that they have drawn in their minds. As a teacher, I am very lucky to have the chance to be the reason for youth and even older ones to get a better future, a better life and consequently a better state and stability. Everyone is able to learn but few who are able to teach and lead, because as Aristotle said: "Teaching is the highest form of understanding." From that point I would say that if a teacher can understand a variety of more than thousands of students in his life, so this person merits to be the leader of the society, since he can handle their diversity and transform it into a piece of art in life, illustrated by the successful positions and future of his learners.

To end with, I would proudly tell you that I am fortunately and proudly a passionate teacher who is dedicated to always lead her students to the right path and show them the good ways. It's not my profession, it's my divine mission.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE for Teacher

A teacher is born naturally as an educator, a guru, a sage, and a guiding light. That has been an essential part of his genetic structure since the first moment he was processing to manifest on this realm, on earth. Teachers have chosen their destiny very well and they know what exactly they are here for, spreading the light of sapience and proper cognizance. A teacher opens the door for you, prepares you, offers you the necessary keys, and instructs you on how and for what to use them. Therefore, they open the gate for you to develop, to flourish and the next step is, guess what? You end up realizing your own ability to create your own keys then progressing them to different levels of sophistication and expansion. Therefore, teachers light up your path so you will be able to discover the wonders you own within your very own experience and master each one of them. Teachers are shining luminaries who radiate over multiple high levels of insight and sagacity. From another profound interpretation, teaching appears in the experiences we live; more profoundly, knowledge and wisdom reflect from our inner unrevealed existing core of knowledge to the experience itself and then remembrance and recognition take place. We learn what we already know, we learn what we already are. All of us are teachers on the higher realms. However, a teacher in this realm is able innately to reach a profound high level of knowledge and transmute it lightly to learners. The teacher is holy, sacred, and graceful. He is an embodiment of a soul of light that contributes in luminating and sophisticating descendants and generations.

INTER-COLLEGE DEBATE COMPETITION

"The Human voice is the most Perfect Instrument of all". Nest Academy of Management Education organized a debate competition on 15th September 2022 between Britts Imperial University College and Nest Academy of Management Education. The event went on from 11:00 AM till 5:00 PM where 3 teams from each Institute were chosen as representatives.

The aim of organizing the debate competition was to sharpen public speaking skills of the students and teach them to be persuasive while expressing their thoughts and opinions. The session was a montage of opinions, thoughts and perspectives that enhanced the knowledge and understanding as well as showing a strong opinion on a given topic.

To begin with, each participant from both Institutes spoke their mind on rationale either opposing the topic or by favoring the topic. Unsurprisingly, this led to a wide spectrum of contradicting views among contestants. While different topics were given from the social views as well as technological views, it was amazing to see clashes between the perspectives of students.

Each point presented by the students was accepted by spectators with claps and cheers. Some points even make us think about the logic behind the topic. There was so much talent in the room. Arguments were made and proved. The competition was so interesting to see and understand the views and opinions of the students.

The event was judged by Mr. Leon Corriea, Ms. Svitlana Kononenko, and in the finals it was judged by Mr. Galdwyn victor.

There were 24 students representing Britts and NEST academy were divided into 3 teams of each from different faculties where they participated with great enthusiasm. The winner's of this competition was

RESEARCH SEMINAR DAY

On the 8th of September 2022, Nest Academy of Management Education Dubai conducted a Research Seminar Event where students had opportunities to showcase their skills in academic writing from different sections of papers such as Case Study, Research, and also in the Quantitative section. Students were expected to participate as per their interests and skills on their chosen topics where there were 14 students who had been finalised before the event. Each of them were amazing during the presentations and were really praised by Dr. Omar, the chief guest for the day who was also the judge and was really impressed by the range of topics that were discussed. I was also one of the participants for the event and won the First Prize with a cash reward of AED 1000 for my Case Study paper that I have written. I could not have achieved this without support from the faculties as they guided and encouraged me to do my best in the seminar. The location chosen for the event was Treppan Hotel in Sports City. This was definitely a good location as it was convenient for students and even audience to reach to the location for the event on that day. Nest Academy has definitely taken a great initiative to start something motivating and new that will allow students not just in being a role model for other students but also to enhance themselves better in writing excellently. Everyone definitely has stage facing phobia where they would not even have the confidence in speaking in front of many people. It is these kinds of events or training that will allow them to be able to be future leaders and be able to speak in front of a huge crowd. We as the students are definitely expecting more such educational events that will bring students together as well.

ORIENTATION

Orientation day is an important event for students at Nest Academy. An invitation was sent to the students by email. We were asked to be dressed in formals.

Nest Academy warmly welcomed us all. The teachers and staff were very hospitable and friendly which made me feel very comfortable. A photoshoot was also organised at the orientation. The event was really full of enjoyment. We received goodies from Nest Academy which again made me feel good and excited for the future course of study here. All in all it was a good experience at the orientation day for, the sessions conducted for students were very interesting.

Nest Academy felt like a Second home to me because people at Nest Academy are very welcoming. A very Colourful invite was sent to the students for the Orientation day mentioning all the details of the orientation event. I came in Formal because I was told at campus to be dressed formally as we would be having a photoshoot. Transportation was also arranged for us from our respective residences. The College staff, on arrival greeted me with smiles and everyone was so helpful and very welcoming. We were given a paper that had a student checklist for attendance, to be signed by each student. We submitted our documents and they took students ID Pictures and served us food at the end of the session. I was quite nervous when I came here as I didn't know what to expect and how it's going to go. But I was enlightened when I noticed that my lectures and people around Nest Academy are wonderful and fun. They guided me step by step on how to do everything and kept saying if you need any assistance

LUNANA: A YAK IN THE CLASSROOM (2019)

Ugyen has completed four of his five mandatory years of training as a teacher for the government. However, he does not enjoy teaching and wishes to move to Australia to become a singer. When he is assigned to teach in the remote mountain village of Lunana, he considers quitting his job, but his grandmother urges him to complete his teaching duty. He decides to take the assignment and leaves the city. It was selected as the Bhutanese entry for the Best International Feature Film at the 93rd Academy Awards.

FREEDOM WRITERS (2007)

Coming in under the radar in 2007, this film tells a true and inspirational story based on the success of Erin Gruwell, a teacher who came up with the unique style of teaching that took a group of under achieving inner city kids to the heights of academic achievement. Erin is played by Hilary Swank who does an impressive job of portraying a woman with the single-minded drive and passion for education. It's wonderful to see how the lives and fortune's offer class are completely turn the round when they finally get into studying.
